CUTTING OF SPRING WHEAT COMMENCES IN THIS DISTRICT

Cutting has commenced in the Carbon district and many of the earlier crops are falling under the swath of the binder. By the end of this week cutting will be pretty well general and it will not be long before the new combines will be tried out in this district. Many of the farmers whose crops are a little later, will not commence cutting for a week or ten days, but if the fine weather prevails there will be little danger of the crops being damaged this year.

Who Does Your Printing?

All business houses need more or less printed matter, all of which is within the possibilities of the local printer. Yet how prone many are to pass up the home printer and let the orders go to city offices which have no interest whatever in rural communities except to get printing orders and the cash to pay for them. Business men, remember that the home paper is constantly promoting the interests of the home community and you owe it to yourself and your local paper to back up these efforts by at least having your printed matter done locally.

An Important Experiment

Bringing ten thousand of the vast army of unemployed British miners to assist in harvesting Western Canada's 1928 grain crops is an experiment on a large scale that will be watched with great interest and sympathy not only in Canada and Britain, but throughout the Empire. That it is an experiment confronted by many difficulties and not free from dangers is fully recognized, but in view of Canada's present need for harvest hands, and Britain's serious and apparently unsolvable problem of unemployment, it is one well worth while.

Unquestionably there has arisen a feeling in the Old Land that Canada, with its sparse population and great areas of vacant lands and enormous undeveloped natural resources, ought to come to the relief of Britain and the British people through the acceptance of large numbers of the unemployed, and that in doing so this Dominion would not only render a real service to these workers and the Empire but would ultimately be well repaid through the infusion of so much British blood into the cosmopolitan citizenship of this country.

In Canada itself there are men more or less prominent in the life of the country who are critical of the immigration now coming into the Dominion and who loudly demand that settlers from the British Isles be given a preference over all others, even to the extent of excluding those of other than British birth.

Opposed to these groups is a large body of Canadian opinion which holds that it would be a mistake not only for Canada but for Britain to bring into this Dominion large numbers of the British unemployed who lack the fitness and qualifications which would enable them to make successful citizens in this newer land. As the Minister of Labor recently pointed out, it would be no kindness to bring unemployed men from Britain unless there is employment for them here, and that no good service would be rendered the Empire by lessening the number of unemployed in Britain and creating an acute unemployment situation in Canada.

It is recognized, too, that in Canada employment is subject to seasonal changes, and that even under the most favorable and prosperous conditions a measure of unemployment is inevitable during the winter months. Winter employment is at low ebb in the cities and larger towns during the winter, and unless winter employment on the farms can be secured for them, British immigrants might fare badly, through no fault of their own, or the fault of anybody else. Between April and November, the situation is entirely different with farm work, railway construction, building operations and municipal improvements and works of all kinds under way. December to March is the critical period.

Under the arrangement whereby these ten thousand unemployed British miners are coming to work in the harvest fields, it is provided that the Canadian authorities will do everything in their power to secure winter farm employment for them, but that all those who cannot be so placed, or prefer to return to Britain, must be returned.

For the sake of these men first and foremost, and for the sake of Canada and Britain secondly, it is to be hoped that by far the greater number will be placed in all-the-year round employment. Canada wants these Britishers, and they should be accorded a hearty welcome and every possible chance to make good. In any mass movement of population there is bound to be a number of misfits, chronic grouse and hopeless incompetents, but the experiment being made should not be judged by these exceptions, but by the measure of success attending the movement as a whole.

Harvest time in the West is a time of stress. It is a strenuous period, when everybody is obliged to work long hours. It is a time when the farmer, anxious to secure in safety the results of a year's labor, is apt to be impatient and exacting, and to these miners unused to long hours and engaged in unfamiliar work, the farmer may appear to be a hard taskmaster. There must be a recognition of these differences and difficulties on both sides. The harvest hand should strive to realize to the full his own inexperience and shortcomings in his new environment and exert himself to the utmost to give satisfaction and make good. The farmer employer, on the other hand, should exercise a maximum of patience and endeavor to teach these men and bring out the best in them in the hope and expectation of encouraging them to do their best and inducing in them a real liking for Canada and a determination to remain and make a success of life in this country.

These British miners. If, as a harvest hand, they have a man seeking to do Farmers, too, should co-operate to the fullest extent possible with the Dominion and Provincial Governments in finding winter employment for his best and make good, arrangements should, if possible be made to retain him throughout the winter and until work becomes plentiful in the spring of the new year.

Judicially handled, and with everybody striving to do his best, this experiment with British miners may well prove to be a turning point in the history of immigration to Canada. The British Government is now training an additional 21,000 miners and their families for agricultural life in the Dominions. If the coming ten thousand harvesters make a success of their undertaking, and if the Canadian people unitedly help them to do so, this country will undoubtedly receive the bulk of these other 21,000 partially trained men and women. Canada wants them, and our people should do everything in reason to encourage them to come here.

The present movement presents a golden opportunity, therefore, to those who have been outspoken in their criticism of past immigration efforts from Britain. It is now up to them to throw themselves with equal vigor into the task of finding permanent work for the thousands who are now or shortly will be in our midst.

Big Land Deal

Ten Thousand Acres Of Farming Land Purchased in Wainwright District

What is stated to be the largest land deal ever consummated in Northern Alberta was completed here when the Mid-West Development and Finance Corporation purchased 10,000 acres of choice farming land in the Wainwright District at a price of $200,000. There are 3,000 acres under cultivation and the land is laid out in twenty units which are being rented by progressive farmers.

ST. VITUS DANCE

A Trouble That Usually Attacks Young Children

St. Vitus Dance is the name generally given to a disease described by medical men as chorea. This trouble usually attacks young children, though older people may be afflicted with it. The most common symptoms are a twitching of the face and limbs. As the disease progresses the twitching takes the form of spasms, in which the jerking motion may be confined to the face or all the limbs may be affected. Frequently the patient is unable to hold anything in the hands or walk steadily. In severe cases the speech is often affected. The disease is due to debility of the nerves and relief comes through an enriched blood supply. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been most successful in reaching this trouble through their specific action on the blood, which it enriches and purifies. The following instance proves the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in this trouble. Mrs. Thomas Bowen, Bath, Ont., says:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been in use in my family for years and always with good results. I believe they saved the life of my only son. At ten years of age he grew very nervous and the trouble developed into St. Vitus Dance. His legs and arms would jerk and twitch, then his speech was affected, and his condition was pitiable. Just then there came to me a little book telling of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to give them to him. By the time two boxes were used there was an improvement in his condition and by the time six boxes more were taken all traces of the trouble had disappeared, and he was well and strong. I have also given the pills to my growing girls, and I know of no better strengthening medicine. I may add that the same applies to grown-ups as well."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Travelling Clinic

Government Clinic Pays Visit To Peace River District

A Government travelling clinic has been operating in the Peace River District this season. At five population centres a total of 314 children were examined in 10 days. A total of 124 minor operations were performed, 279 children given dental examinations, 144 extractions performed, and other dental treatment given to 128 children.

Miller's Worm Powders were devised to promptly relieve children who suffer from the ravages of worms. It is a simple preparation to destroy stomachic and intestinal worms without shock or injury to the most sensitive system. They act thoroughly and painlessly, and though in some cases they may cause vomiting, that is an indication of their powerful action and not of any nauseating property.

Gasoline Tax Revenue

In the first two months, May and June, in which the three-cent gasoline tax was in force in Saskatchewan, $325,000 was collected, it was officially announced. When the gasoline tax act was passed at the last session of the Legislature, it was estimated that the revenue to the province would be, for the full year, $700,000.

Laying Heavy Steel Rails

C.P.R. Replacing Rails With Heavier Steel On Maple Creek and Brooks Subdivisions

Good progress is being made with the relaying of steel on the Canadian Pacific lines in the Calgary division during the past few months. One hundred and thirty-five miles of new rail has been laid on the Maple Creek subdivision, that is between Medicine Hat and Swift Current, while the relaying is now going on in the Brooks subdivision, between Calgary and Medicine Hat.

The relaying consisted of the replacement of 80 and 85 pound steel by rails weighing 100 pounds per foot. The heavier rail is necessary in view of the increased speed of the trains and their greater weight.

As mentioned above, 135 miles of heavy rail have been laid on the Maple Creek subdivision. On the Brooks subdivision the mileage of heavy steel will be about 130. It is estimated that the cost of relaying the track is approximately $1,000,000 per hundred miles, thus the work on the Calgary division this year will cost the Canadian Pacific Railway a total of about $2,065,000.

Water Power Installation

Two Million Horsepower To Be Added Within Next Few Years

Two million horsepower will, it is estimated by the department of the interior, be added to the water power installation in the Dominion within the next few years. This new work will require a direct investment of at least $200,000,000.

The annual statement of the Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, with regard to the progress of water power development issued at the beginning of the year predicted an addition of 378,000 horsepower to the total installation in the Dominion during the first six or seven months of 1928. A mid-season review of conditions now indicates that during the whole year as much as 550,000 H.P. will be added, either in new development or in addition to existing stations.

For Evacuation Of Rhineland

Declaration Of Policy Adopted At Socialist Gathering

Immediate evacuation of the Rhineland by France, Belgium and England was demanded in a declaration of world policy adopted by the socialist labor international congress meeting at Brussels. Re-establishment of German sovereignty in the Saare region was also demanded.

The clause covering the demands was applauded by the French delegation which joined the Germans in a demonstration for its adoption.

Relief From Asthma.—Who can describe the complete relief from suffering which follows the use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

"First call for dinner!" "Last call for dinner!" The old monotonous warning to the hungry traveller is a thing of the past on the Trans-Canada Limited. C. P. R. trans-continental crack train from Montreal to Vancouver. To-day a nattily attired waiter in white coat and apron with a smart black bow tie walks through the cars ringing "chimes" on a dulcimer, an appeal at once more pleasant to the ear and more likely to attract attention than the former method. In time, there is no doubt, the idea will be adopted on all dining car trains of the railway.

Ramsay MacDonald Tours Canada

Group taken aboard the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of France" on the arrival of the leader of the British Labour Party, J. Ramsay MacDonald and his three daughters, Isabel, Joan and Sheila, for a six weeks tour of the Dominion. Left to right: Joan MacDonald, Isabel, youngest member of the L.C.C., Captain Griffiths, commander of the "Empress," The Right Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, and Sheila. Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald and his daughters will tour Canada, visiting Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver and other Western points and sail for England in September on the "Empress of Australia."

Use Model Airplanes on Trip to Europe

- (1) This indoor commercial model with its enclosed fuselage looks and flies like a real ship.
- (2) Aram Abgarian at work carving propellers—his specialty.
- (3) Canadian Pacific Liner S.S. Montcalm.
- (4) Winding an indoor tractor motor.

Over three hundred boys in Canada and the United States are hoping that the design, strength and air capabilities of their model planes will carry them to Europe.

Two of them must succeed. These two will be the winners of the indoor and out-door divisions in the National Airplane Model Tournament to be held in Detroit at the end of the month under the auspices of the Airplane Model League of America of which Commander Richard E. Byrd is Honorary President. The Tournament, conducted by the "American Boy" Magazine, will be entered by district champions supported by leading newspapers of the continent which are conducting local contests.

A trip to Europe is the biggest prize for which the boys are striving. All the boys who go to Detroit for the tournament will be prepared to leave on July 2, and the successful contestants will sail from Montreal on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Montcalm July 6. En route to the ship they will be entertained at Niagara Falls, Toronto and Ottawa by officials of the Federal, Ontario and Civic Governments. In Ottawa they will fly to the models for His Excellency the Governor General and the Prime Minister, both of whom have shown great interest in airplane models. In Montreal the young champions will be the guests of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

LONDON TO LONDON BY AIR

- (1) Packages in air express, especially labelled, at the door of the cargo compartment in the express air plane.
- (2) Fairchild cabin-monoplane landing at the St. Hubert air-field, outside Montreal, after the flight from Rimouski.
- (3) Canadian Pacific Express and customs officials at St. Hubert superintend the transfer from plane to plane.

Less than seven days after leaving the shipper in London, England, four packages of merchandise weighing forty-two pounds in weight were recently delivered to the consignee in London, Ontario. This achievement was effected by the Canadian Pacific Express in its regular air express service maintained in connection with the trans-Atlantic liners entering and leaving the St. Lawrence.

In the forenoon on Saturday the packages left London and were placed aboard the "Empress of Australia" sailing from Southampton at noon. The following Friday they were trans-shipped from the vessel to a plane at Rimouski and speeded towards Montreal. Less than three hours afterwards at the St. Hubert airfield outside of Montreal the express was transferred to another machine and carried on to Toronto. Arriving here in the evening, seven hours after leaving Rimouski the packages were picked up by another airplane at the Leaside field and taken to London.

The Canadian Pacific are pioneers in air express in Canada, having service under a special tariff in connection with incoming and outgoing trans-Atlantic liners in the St. Lawrence River.

Not only is expedited airdrop from Europe greatly expedited by this arrangement, but domestic air express shipments make constant use of the bi-weekly service between Ottawa and Montreal, Toronto and Montreal, and down the St. Lawrence to Rimouski, that thus serves two purposes. Express moving east or west between these points may be greatly speeded in delivery in this manner, and put considerably ahead of ordinary express matter unaided by this auxiliary. Merchants have made use of the Canadian Pacific Express Air Service to ship articles of every description, from flowers to motion picture film.

WITH the superb ease of a thoroughbred that takes all in its stride, the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet never falters in the most trying circumstances—proves its mettle on the steepest grades and in the face of the greatest obstacles.

The ruggedness of Chevrolet construction alone makes these things possible. There is no part of the engine—of the chassis—of the body that was not designed primarily for rugged endurance—put to the test again and again on the General Motors Proving Ground.

As a result the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet sturdily climbs without a halt, the steep slopes of the Rockies, and ploughs its way through the deep mud and gumbo of half-made prairie trails. In whatever conditions it may be placed, the splendid ruggedness of Chevrolet remains loyal in the service of its owner.

Its long life has become proverbial—the very name Chevrolet is a synonym for strength that endures.

The "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet—beautiful in form—luxurious in appointments—supremely rugged in construction—powered by the famous Valve-in-head engine—offers solid, enduring, trustworthy performance even under adverse conditions.

No matter what the roads—no matter what the weather—at all times the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet stays on the JOB.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Increasing alarm is being expressed over the unemployment situation in Great Britain, with 1,300,000 men out of work.

Two new brands of whisky, approved by the Ontario Liquor Control Board, have been put on the market by the commission. The varieties are styled "Commission No. 1," and Commission No. 2," and bear the seal of the board's approval on the bottles.

Dr. Paul, chief chemical analyst for the Surete Generale, the French Scotland Yard, is reported to have detected toxic matter in the viscera of Captain Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian financier, whose death recently was surrounded with mystery.

Four men held up the First National Bank of Buxton, N.D., and escaped with between $3,500 and $4,500. They made their getaway in a dark blue Buick sedan heading east out of Buxton, which is about 65 miles north of Fargo.

Baron Von Huenefeld, owner of the trans-Atlantic monoplane, the Bremen, which Captain Hermann Koehl and Col. James Fitzmaurice piloted across the Atlantic, will make a present of the disabled plane to the projected municipal museum of New York.

Investigation of the immediate power requirements of the city of Saskatoon is to be made by a committee of the Saskatchewan Government, with a view to working out a plan under which a start can be made in the production and sale of power under central control.

Owing to inadequate steamship accommodation, it will be impossible to transport to Canada full quota of 10,000 unemployed which were to work in the Western harvest fields, according to J. Bruce Walker, director of European immigration for Canada. He states that possibly not more than 8,500 would be taken to Canada from all sources.

Its Quality Sells It. The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil speaks volumes for its healing efficiency. Ever since it was first introduced it has grown steadily in public favor, owing entirely to its manifold usefulness in relieving and healing sickness. As a specific for cuts, burns, scalds, and various inflammatory pains its record is beyond reproach.

HE DIDN'T THINK DYSENTERY COULD BE RELIEVED

Mr. John Melling, Penner, Alta., writes: "I am a returned soldier, and when I came home from overseas I suffered greatly with dysentery. The doctor said it was chronic and did not think it could be relieved. However, he doctored me for quite a while, but did me no good. One day the druggist asked me if I had ever tried

"On his recommendation I bought a bottle and after I had taken it got some relief, so I got two more, and have never had the dysentery since 1925."

Farmers' Marketing Tour

Canadian National Railways' Tour
To Great Britain and
Denmark, 1928

We were now in the home of the Clydesdales, and a call by Mr. Weir, from Newcastle, in the morning had brought a pressing invitation from Messrs. A. & N. Templeton, of Sandy Knowe, near Kelso, to visit them. This took a section of our party to see the great horse "Benefactor" and some of his progeny as well as the Border Leicester flock of Messrs. Templeton and here we had our first taste of Scottish hospitality. The brothers with their sisters and mother entertained us royally to a delightful tea and the "wee drapple" was not missing. Ours was a great privilege because the afternoon was lovely and from the high ground at Sandy Knowe the eye can roam for twenty to thirty miles in every direction over the beautiful Scottish countryside. Our visit over, we continued our journey to Edinburgh enlivening the night with old familiar songs.

The "main body" had gone on, passing through Dalkeith at dusk, awakening many memories for one of the members of our party. Mr. James Walker, representing the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Toronto, who was born in this pleasant Scottish town. Evening found us in Edinburgh, comfortably established in the North British Hotel, overlooking the famous Princes Street.

From Melrose we had sent a challenge to meet the best curling rink in Scotland, the aspiring rink being our friends from Deloraine, Manitoba, but unfortunately a game could not be secured owing to its being Saturday.

Our first engagement was to visit the Clydesdale Stud at Portobello, of Mr. Robert Park, owner among other notable stock of "Brunstane Again" and "Brunstane Phyllis," both of which, along with a number of fine colts, were shown for our benefit. To our astonishment all these animals, including the great stallion, were put through their paces by Mr. Park's twin daughters, girls of seventeen, whose competent horsemanship delighted us all, as did their modesty. Mr. Park is no believer in "fancy" Clydesdales, but prefers to breed for scale and power, and we listened with respect to his views as he expounded his breeding principles.

Mr. Park took us into his home, "Brunstane House." Here Mrs. Park and her daughters entertained us to high tea in the room where the final committee meeting was said to have been held when the Union of Scotland and England was decided in 1707. The room is eight-sided and contains a 14th century fireplace. But a 1 eyes were turned to the great sideboard on which were two Cawdor Cups, both won in the same year by sire and daughter "Brunstane Again" and "Brunstane Phyllis."

A trip to the famous Forth Bridge, reminding us so much of our own Quebec Bridge, completed our first day in Edinburgh.

Leaving for Stirling at 8 a.m. en route for Perth, we were treated to a taste of Highland weather, for snow began to fall by the time we reached Stirling Castle. This forbidding stronghold, perched high on a dominating rock overlooking the plain beneath, is interesting at any time, but seen through a Scottish mist and falling snow, it was doubly fascinating, notwithstanding that we were robbed of the view of the field of Bannockburn. Taken and retaken, this grey building, calm enough today, has withstood many sieges. Within its walls were born James II. IV. and V. of Scotland, and here were crowned James V., Mary and James VI. of Scotland, afterwards First of England.

We walked the courts and trod the battlements. We examined with some wonder the window of the Douglas Room where the rebellious Earl was stabbed to death by James II. in 1452. We left with the influence of those fiercely stirring times still upon us, to view in front of the castle the noble statue of Robert the Bruce, where, his voice thrilling with pride, a small boy with his sister told us of Scotland's glorious days, excelling in this the guide to the Castle itself.

Next we came to the wonderful Wallace Monument, a great granite tower, four square, 220 feet in height and standing 520 feet above the level of the Forth. In a niche on the west corner stands a bronze statue of Wallace, measuring 15 feet from heel to helmet, to the tip of the sword 21 feet, and raised 50 feet above the doorway—a noble figure, sword on high, summoning his followers. Those of us who climbed the inside spiral stairway of 246 steps were amply recompensed. The inner chambers are noted among other things for a wonderful echo and in one of them, the Hall of Heroes, lies the double-edged sword of Wallace, 4 feet 4 inches long in the blade which narrows from 2 1/4 inches to 1 inch. The leather mounted hilt is 12 inches long and has a two inchommel. For six centuries Wallace's sword lay in Dumbarton Castle, being transferred to the Monument by Hugh R. Wallace, of Glencairn Castle, his lineal descendant.

Snow still falling, we arrived in Perth, the pretty, ancient city by the Tay. Perth is not a big city but its charm is instant. Moreover its fame as a livestock centre is world wide. For many years it has been the most important centre in Britain for the selling by public auction of pedigree Shorthorn and Aberdeen-Angus cattle and our arrival coincided with the biggest sale of the year.

Following lunch and a warm welcome by Lord Provost Dempster, we were soon watching with critical eyes the judging and street parade of cattle, noting with admiration the high average of quality prior to taking our places next day in the auction room.

Accommodation in Perth was so taxed by the sale that nearly half our party had to spend the night in Dundee, an opportunity of seeing the Jute City which was appreciated.

Back in Perth we had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Lovat Fraser, the greatest livestock auctioneer in Great Britain: Mr. Fraser frequently sells pedigree stock at 50 animals per hour for several hours at a stretch. He did not belie his fame, for animal after animal was sold during the half day that was available to us. The lesson of the sale, so far as we Canadian farmers were concerned, was the excellent quality of stock that was sold at distinctly reasonable prices.

The sensation of the sale was the fetching of 3,500 guineas by Captain John MacGillivray's Supreme Champion, "Calrossie Double Event" which was bought by Mr. James Fidey, the well-known exporter to the Argentine.

PAUL AT PHILIPPI

Golden Text: "Rejoice in the Lord always: again I will say, Rejoice."—Philippians 4.4.

Lesson: Acts 16.16-40.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 55.6-13.

Explanations and Comments

The Second Christian Convert In Philippi, verses 16-18.—Paul was greatly disturbed at Philippi by a fortune-telling maid who kept following him and Silas and crying, "These men are servants of the Most High God, who proclaim unto you the way of salvation." Professor Ramsay thinks that the slave girl's mind had become distorted and diseased by her belief in her supernatural possession, but was all the more acute in certain perceptions and intuitions, and that she had become alive to the normal influence which the intense faith of the strangers gave them.

The girl followed Paul and Silas for many days, and her reiterated chant drew a crowd of curiosity seekers. Paul was "sore troubled," and at length he turned to her, and in the name of Jesus Christ bade the spirit leave her, and she became wholly normal. Nothing further is told about this girl whose story arouses our sympathy. One writer expresses his belief that "She would partake of the generous help of Lydia and of the other Christian women at Philippi, who would see in her no longer a bond-servant of the men who had domination over her, but a sister beloved in the Lord."

Demand Has Been Very Brisk In Northern Alberta

Demand for homestead land in the northern part of Alberta continues very brisk, judging from the records at Grand Prairie and Peace River. At this former point 283 entries were reported during the month of June, making a total of 732 for the three months period ending June 30th, and at Peace River 400 entries in June, making up a total of 1,040 for the three months.

Was Eminent Western Counsel

C. C. McCaul, K.C., Prominent Lawyer, Dies At His Home In Edmonton

Long prominent as one of Western Canada's most brilliant lawyers and a pioneer of forty-five years' standing, C. C. McCaul, K.C., aged 70, died at his home in Edmonton, recently, after a lingering illness.

Legal and business circles were shocked upon learning of the death of the eminent counsel, one who had taken a leading part in some of the most important cases heard in the Dominion. Known and held in high regard in the prairie provinces, in British Columbia and in the far away Yukon, where he was one of the hardy pioneers who went through the gold rush, C. C. McCaul had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

From 1883 to 1888, Mr. McCaul practiced law at Fort Macleod and then he removed to Lethbridge, where he established a law partnership with F. W. H. Haultain, who had opened a law office in Macleod in 1884, and later became chief justice of the Northwest Territories.

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

"Here are Helmi's letters," at length said Warner; "they belong to you now. They will tell you everything. If we both get over I will take them back, after you have read them. I think if I had had a wife like Helmi I would not have doubted her. I don't think I would. However I am not saying that to hurt you—no one knows what he would do. Anyway I am glad I met you, Jack. And your wife is well and so is little Lili."

"And so you see you must get through. I may, but you must, and if you do you will tell Helmi. Come on—our chance is just as good now as it ever will be."

Jack took his hand and pressed it. "Arthur, I can't tell you what I want to say—you have been a better friend to Helmi than I have."

The bridge was a fine iron one, with heavily studded pillars. Every second light was burning. The road leading to it was not much travelled, and as they walked up the long approach their feet made a strange echoing sound. They had left their blue overcoats open, showing the gray German smocks. Jack knew what he was to say in German if accosted, but their hope was that no one was on the bridge. Every step brought them nearer, and the lights ahead of them on the Holland side twinkled like the lights at home.

Jack's heart was in a strange turmoil over what he had heard. On, on—they were half-way over now. . . . steps echoing, echoing. . . . no sound but the gentle murmurings from the other side, gentle sounds. . . . dogs barking. . . . cow-bells. . . . they must hurry. . . . on, on. . . . ten feet from the end now! Suddenly from behind the last pillar stepped out a German guard, who thrust a flashlight in their faces, blinding them with its sudden gleam. At the end of his rifle a bayonet gleamed in the light.

"Halt!" he cried. "Why do you halt us? We are honest men," said Arthur quietly. "Give me your passports, then."

said the guard, putting away his flashlight, but not lowering his rifle.

Pretending to search his pockets, Arthur moved a little, then like a tiger he sprang on the guard, grasping him around the neck.

"I'll hold him, Jack!" he shouted. "Beat it! you're safe! Beat it!"

Jack found refuge in the trees on the other bank. There was a queer singing in his head, something drowning like a swarm of bees. Then came a sudden pain in his shoulder like a knife thrust, and looking down, he saw the blood running off his fingers.

But he must see what happened. He crawled to the edge of the trees and looked back. Three guards were standing together, talking excitedly. He could see nothing of Arthur, but the smoke of rifles still hung around the pillars of the bridge. He crawled back into the trees and lay on the damp leaves, sobbing like a child. He was free; he was safe; but the loss of his friend was heavy on his heart.

CHAPTER XXXI.

It was a hot night in London in the early spring. The lights shone ghostly blue through their painted globes, and across the starless night search-lights stretched their spectral fingers, crossing, passing, converging, crossing again. Through the streets, in spite of the sombre gloom and the dangers of the night, an endless stream of people drifted, making a brave show of unconcern. The theatres were crowded, the dance halls echoed with rhythmic feet, and tinkled with laughter; and a though grief, fear, and a sense of loss walked with every soul in London, the sound of their ominous footfalls were drowned by laughter and singing, true to the brave old British tradition.

At Victoria Station the V.A.D.'s were assembled with their waiting stretchers, for a hospital train was coming in. There were the usual noises of a great station—hooting of sirens, blowing of horns, calling of railway officials—all the sounds multiplied by the vaulted station roof. There was the usual variegated and cosmopolitan crowd, though the dominant note was the khaki of the thick-set, calm-faced Englishman; here the slim Canadian, independent and alert, actually looking for some one, and not ashamed of appearing anxious; there the blue-uniformed French officer, darting through the crowd like a gorgeous bluebird.

They are removing men on stretchers now, and the V.A.D.'s are busy. Very skilfully they manage too roll the bedcases to the stretchers and carry them to the waiting ambulances—pallid faces, all of them, some bandaged, but most of them smiling bravely, too, and glad to be home.

There is one V.A.D. looking very slim in her blue serge uniform who works feverishly. She is returning with an empty when she meets the walking cases coming out of their coach, some on crutches, some being helped by companions, arms in slings, bandaged faces, but all on their feet.

She stops with a cry of gladness. "Jack, oh, Jack!" she cries, as a young man with his arm in a sling is passing. "Jack—it's Eva—don't you know me?"

She threw her arms around him. "It's my only brother—my only brother," she says to her companions, who wait for her. "Jack, are you a hospital case, or can you come with me? I have a flat, I can put you up. All right, wait for me inside on the first bench—I'll be through in half an hour."

Jack sat on the bench inside watching the crowds endlessly milling around him. He was surprised to meet his sister here when he believed her to be safe in Winnipeg. He wondered what had brought her to London—Eva, the luxury-loving, indolent Eva. It was strange to see her in plain uniform, carrying stretchers. But there was a high look on her face that transformed her. She looked more like the Eva he had known long ago.

Eva came for him at last and led him to the rear of the great station, where endless cars were parked, and put him into one which seemed very small and low.

"We pay a license according to wheel base, you know," she laughed; "and anyway, a car is a car, no matter how small it is. Oh, Jack, it's good to see you, and I have a bed ready for you. I've kept lots of the boys—I've been here six months."

Eva brought him to her flat in

Maida Vale, and switched on a light, revealed a luxurious living-room, all in black and silver.

"Do you like it, Jack?" she asked with evident pride. "I work all day in misery and horrors so I have to have beauty at night."

A large black velvet divan, with round black cushions occupied one side of the room, the rug was black with a faint silver border—the fireplace black and white tiles, and on the mantel were silver candlesticks and a silver wrought image of the Madonna. On the black lacquered table stood a silver basket with American Beauty roses.

A slim maid appeared with coffee and sandwiches.

"We'll have a real meal later, Jack," said his sister. "And now tell me where you have been."

"First," said Jack, "tell me how you happened to come over?"

Eva laughed. "You will wonder, I know, but I couldn't stand it after the old crowd broke up—and I guess I missed Humphrey, too, though I won't admit it, because we had a row before he left, and he said things to me I shall never forget. But anyway, everyone was knitting and making bandages, and I couldn't get into it. So I rented the house and I can live easily here on the money. I really like the work I am doing, and I love the boys—they are so brave. I bring them home with me sometimes and write their letters and listen to their stories. I have one little extra room—and really, Jack, I never was so happy in my life. Now tell me your story."

Jack told her of his capture, imprisonment, escape, his friend Arthur Warner and his sacrifice.

Eva's eyes were filled with tears as she listened. "Oh, Jack, wasn't he brave? But why did he do it—why did he love you so?"

"It was not for me—it was his love for my wife!"

"Why, Jack, I didn't know you were married. Now begin at the beginning. Wait, do you want to go to bed first? You look pretty white. I mustn't let you tire yourself. You see I am a pretty good nurse now, and I know how to take care of people."

"No, I am fine," said Jack; "my shoulder is nearly well again. I have had two months in the hospital with it, and I want to tell you all about it."

Jack began with his meeting with Helmi at Eagle Mines; their marriage by the magistrate; the magistrate's objections, and his showing of the newspaper report.

Wool Grading Centre For Vancouver

Plans are reported to be on foot among sheep raisers to establish in Vancouver a wool grading centre similar to that functioning in Trenton, Ontario, where at present most of the wool business of Canada is conducted. An authority states this would probably have the result of increasing the returns to the producer from 25 to 50 per cent.

Would Solve Anastasia Puzzle

Noted Historian Believes He Has
Solution Of Controversy

Dr. Edward A. Walsh, S.J., vice-president of Georgetown University and a noted historian, believes he has in his possession a documental solution to the Grand Duchess Anastasia controversy.

Whether it will uphold the woman now in the United States, under the protection of William B. Leeds, Jr., and known as Madame Tchaikovsky, as a true daughter of the late Czar Nicholas of Russia, or brand her as an imposter, Dr. Walsh will not speculate.

He is certain the mass of documents and records which he recently brought to this country from Europe, will settle, at least in his own mind—whether or not the Grand Duchess escaped the massacre of the Imperial Russian family 10 years ago.

For the past seven years, the Jesuit priest has been conducting a historian's investigation into the facts surrounding the deaths of Czar Nicholas and his immediate family. His studies have carried him to Russia, Belgium, France, Austria, Switzerland, England and Italy.

Teeth and Health

THE INCISORS

You are very particular to keep these eight front teeth (four upper and four lower), white and sound, so their function, then to you, would seem largely esthetical.

But they have another use from which they take their name—that is—to incise, or cut.

In your child you have seen them erupt with three distinct tips or tubercles, which by and by have worn down to leave a straight cutting edge.

This nothing is a purely normal development, being due to the calcification of the enamel covering from three separate centres. Now, you have noticed too, with perhaps no little concern, that upon eruption, the two upper front teeth (central incisors) seemed quite out of proportion to the size of the face, giving them an ungainly appearance.

But you must remember this (that while the face will grow larger, the teeth will not increase in size—so Nature has planned with foresight as you might have guessed).

Now try this; consult a mirror, and note the shape of your face. To which of the three types does it incline, tapering, oval or square? Then study the form of your upper central incisor—imagine it inverted, and observe that it conforms to the shape of your face. Nature is very attentive to details, ever striving for harmony.

Remember then, that you must give redoubled zeal to the care of these incisors, which are not merely useful, but are also an asset to your appearance, if rightly cared for.

The extension of 980 square miles made to Jasper National Park, Alberta, in 1927, brought the Columbia Icefield within national park boundaries. Demand For Irrigated Land

Evidence of the demand for irrigated land in Southern Alberta is the fact that the Canada Land and Irrigation Company find it necessary to open up another unit of the Vauxhall project to meet the demand, a step it was not planned to take until 1930.
